PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

A Bill to Prevent the Display of All Foreign Flags.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 12.—Short sessions of both branches of the legislature were held last evening. In the house, the calendar was cleared of bills on first reading. In the senate a large number of bills were read for the first and second times. Among the bills introduced in the senate were the following: To promote decency, cleanliness and healthfulness in the public schools; to establish an additional common pleas court in Philadelphia, with three judges, to be elected at the next November election.

A bill was introduced in the house by Mr. Griggs, of Lawrence, providing that no other flag than the Stars and Stripes be allowed to wave from any public building, or be placed over any house, office or other building, private or public, except such as may be occupied by a duly accredited minister or consul of a foreign civil power to these United States. The bill also provides that in all public processions no flag of any design intended to represent any foreign nation or country shall be carried or displayed. Violation of the act is to be punished by a fine of $15 or three months' imprisonment. Among the other bills introduced was one permitting disabled soldiers who are peddlers to canvass or solicit orders and deliver goods without being owners of the same. The Focht bill increasing the amount of preferred claims of laborers, mechanics and working girls from $200 to $500, and the limit from six months to one year, which was negatived by the committee, was placed on the calendar by a vote of 150 to 3.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 13.—The Marshall bill repealing the act prohibiting the consolidation of competing pipe line companies passed the final stages in the house yesterday by a vote of 118 to 57. The forestry bill passed finally with only three votes to spare, the vote being 106 to 63. Bills also passed finally to establish a department of agriculture; extending the provisions of the act regulating the sale of articles of traffic or merchandise within one mile of any camp meeting held for religious worship to conferences and other religious gatherings of like nature; amending the act of 1772 relating to administering oaths to witnesses so as to abolish the practice of kissing the Bible by substituting the laying of the hand on the open book.

In the senate bills were passed finally: For the protection of persons unable to care for their own property; to provide for the adoption of trademark labels, symbols, or private stamps by an incorporated or unincorporated association or union of workingmen; granting a pension to Hamilton Smith, of Jefferson county; to enlarge the competency of husband and wife to testify against each other; to prohibit members of boards of trustees of state normal schools from making or being interested in contracts with such schools; house bill to provide for an additional law judge in Westmoreland county.

The governor sent in the nomination of B. F. Gilkeson, of Bucks county, as commissioner of banking, and the appointment was unanimously confirmed.

ITEMS OF STATE NEWS.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 9.—Seventy-six men were killed and 233 fatally injured while mining coal in the Wyoming district during 1894.

PALMYRA, Pa., Feb. 12.—The people of this place and surrounding districts are suffering for want of water. The cisterns are frozen up and the water company has but three inches of water in the reservoir. Many of the pipes are frozen.

DUNCANNON, Pa., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Matilda Topley, aged about 78 years, met with an accident that will cause her death. Her clothing caught fire from a stove, and before her flaming garments could be extinguished her body was horribly burned.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 11.—Eighteen cases of violation of the oleomargarine law was decided against the defendants by Justice of the Peace Courtney. State Inspector Reeder is the prosecutor in all cases, and a rich harvest in costs and fines is being reaped.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Feb. 11.—Charles Auer, a German laborer 38 years old, was found dead in a stable on top of the Lehigh mountain. Though the general belief is that the man died from exposure to the cold the body has not the appearance of that of a man frozen to death. The coroner is investigating.

ROYERSFORD, Pa., Feb. 11.—Diphtheria is still prevalent here, and seems to be on the increase. Mr. Rosenberger lost another child last week with the disease, which was the third to die in this family within a week. The board of health has adopted very stringent measures in order to stamp out the disease.

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 11.—The long and exciting trial of Jeremiah Casey, Frank Anderson and John O'Connell, for robbing David and Mary Slocum of about $10,000, was concluded with the conviction of all three. Casey, who, after the robbery, got married and was arrested in Paterson, N. J., while on his bridal tour, turned state's evidence. John O'Connell, a Harlem tough, was brought here from New York, and Frank Anderson, a neighbor of Slocum, laid the plans of the robbery.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 12.—Harry Smith, a stranger, about 42 years old, who was employed by the Pennsylvania railroad to assist in clearing the tracks from snow, attempted to get out of the way of a west bound train near Rohrerstown yesterday and slipped and fell in front of an east bound freight. He was instantly killed and the body badly mutilated. His head was crushed to a jelly, an arm cut off, and nearly every bone in his body broken. There was nothing on his person to indicate his home.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Joseph Choperinski and her 7-year-old daughter Mary were burned to death at Priceburg during a fire which destroyed half a dozen dwellings and rendered six families homeless. Mr. Choperinski leaped out of a window with one of his girls in his arms, and another girl also jumped and escaped. Mrs. Choperinski was overcome and fell to the floor, as did also the girl Mary who, was with her. The charred bodies of both were recovered. Some of those who escaped the fire were badly burned.

TORRESDALE, Pa., Feb. 12.—The body of Winfield S. Kates, aged 6 years, of Broad street and Erie avenue, Philadelphia, was found in the Delaware river at this place yesterday. Kates had been employed as a bookkeeper at Morelton Inn, and on Thursday last, immediately before the heavy storm began, he started to skate about a mile up the river to attend to some business. He had not been seen since until his body was found by a searching party. The supposition is that he fell into an air hole and was pushed beneath the ice by the current. Mr. Kates leaves a widow and one child.

The House bill creating an agricultura department and abolishing the cumbrous board of sixty members has passed the lower Chamber at Harrisburg and ought to pass the Senate. It is a serious waste that the State has been willing for so many years to support the State Board of Agriculture and pay the traveling expenses of its sixty members when a much simpler organization could have done the necessary work much easier and, of course, more cheaply. The House bill is drafted according to a suggestion made by Governor Hastings, which is aimed to place the State direction af agricultural matters on a reasonable and businesslike basis. This bill will do away with the sixty members of the State Board of Agriculture as factors in the direction af State business, and will substitute five officials, namely a Secretary of Agriculture, an Economic Zoologist, a State Veterinarian, a Dairy Commissioner and a Forestry Commissioner. The advantages of this plan are so manifest that i has been heartily indorsed by all of the leading agricultural interests of the State and if the Senate will pass this bill in the form in which it emerges from the House the system of employing sixty men to do the work of five will be done away with.

Coal Output in Dubois Region.

Dubois Express: Work in the mines in and around DuBois is very slack at present. The production has been increased without any regard to the demand, and the markets are almost always in a glutted condition. If all the mines in the United States worked three days a week, enough coal would be produced to meet the requirements. Nearly 20,000 tons of coal a day can be mined at the R. & P. C. & I. Co., B. L. & Y. C. M. Co., Helvetia Mining Co., and Jefferson coal company in Clearfield and Jefferson counties. The average daily out put of the mines is about 2,500 tons, at Adrian 2,500 tons, at Eleanor 2,000 tons, at Helvetia 1,500 tons at DuBois 4,000 tons, at Reynoldsville 4,000 tons, at Beechtree 1,200 tons and at Coal Glen 1,200 tons. All these mines are within a distance of twenty five miles of DuDois and tho majority of them have been opened within the last ten years. If the radius was extended to fifty miles as to include the Toby valley Berwind-White Mount Carmel, Tyler and other plants the out put would be increased to 40,000 tons a day.

Hastings' Reminder.

Governor Hastings' warning to the legislature was a timely piece of advice. He told the legislators that the people of Pennsylvania are to-day practicing economy in their private affairs, and that it is not too much to ask of the state it shall follow the example set by individuals. This is a time when a special stringency should be exercised in making expenditures, and when no appropriation that is not absolutely necessary should be allowed. The condition of the revenues will not justify any increase in expenses if they are to be met out of the receipts of the commonwealth for the next two years. The figures that are given by the governor and which are attested to by the auditor general and the state treasurer show that he knows what he is talking about. Consequently if the legislature insists on creating new officers the state will not be able to pay them their salaries unless fresh methods of taxation are devised. Our lawmakers cannot make $1 do the work of $2 and, therefore, before they adjourn they should provide the means whereby the government can be condcted, free from indebtedness, for the next two years, either by keeping the expenses within the limits of the estimated revenues or else by enlarging these revenues by an increase of taxation.

The former method is the one which the people of the state wish to see adopted and if there is any curtailment necessary it should be at the expenses of unnecessary officers. Nowhere else can economy be practiced. The appropriation for the schools, $5,500,00 per annum, might be cut down, but the results would be felt keenly all over the state and would not be appreciated.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Feb. 25, 1895.

From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Mr. Cleveland is like the boy who played ghost to frighten his village companions and got a ducking from them, only he hasn't got his ducking, yet. But fear of it keeps cold chills playing hide and seek up and down his back bone. The aforesaid boy thought his companions would be scared out of their wits when they saw him wrapped in a sheet, carrying an illuminated pumpkin head, strolling the darkest part of the village. Just so Mr. Cleveland thought the republicans in Congress would be frightened out of their wits when he trotted out his extra session ghost. Well, the extra session ghost was trotted out, Mr. Cleveland having caused his friends to give it out as coming straight from him, that if the Hawaiian cable amendment was not struck from the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation bill he would veto that bill; that if the Mills amendment to the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, repealing all laws for the issue of bonds, or any other financial amendment objectionable to him was put upon that or any other bill he would veto it, and that he had almost made up his mind to call an extra session anyway. Instead of being frightened at the prospect, Senator Chandler, speaking for his republican colleagues, said that an extra session ought to be called anyway, so that Congress might have an opportunity to investigate that remarkable bond contract, negotiated by Mr. Cleveland's former law partner, which gave a European syndicate an immediate profit of $9,000,000 on an investment of about $65,000,000, not to mention interest $16,000,000 in excess of what is paid by bonds issued by even such insignificant countries as Egypt, and that nothing would please the republicans more than to have it called early.

It is more than likely whether Mr. Cleveland ever really wished that Congress would do or leave something undone to make an extra session necessary, and it is certain that his wishes have been directly contrary since Senator Chandler's plain speech. He realizes that with the present state of feeling against him an early extra session, with the House overwhelmingly republican and the Senate anti-Cleveland, might result in his impeachment, and if an extra session will have to be called he would like to put it off as long as possible to give the people a chance to forget that disgraceful bond contract.

With only one week of life left there is little probability of any legislation by Congress except that which may be put through as amendments to appropriation bills. Although the House has, under orders from the White House, by a party vote, refused to accept the Senate Hawaiian cable amendment, it may have to do so, as Senators stand firmly by that amendment and insist that if it isn't accepted the bill will fall.

There will be some interesting debate in the Senate this week upon the numerous financial amendments to the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, among which are Gorman amendment authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to issue 3 per cent. loan certificates to meet the deficit, which Secretary Carlisle insists will not exist; the Mills amendment repealing all laws for the issue of bonds; the Wolcott amendment authorizing the President upon the request of one or more European nations to appoint three commissioners to an international monetary conference, the House and Senate each to designate a like number, and the amendment providing for the payment of the unpaid sugar bounty on the crop of 1893 and for the payment of eight-tenths of one cent a pound on the crop of 1894. If the Mills amendment isn't adopted it will be because the republicans will not allow it to be, notwithstanding the betrayal of the trust which inspired the offering of the amendment.

The one democratic Congressman who can look back upon his record in the present House with pride is Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, of New York. He has by his voice and his vote proven that a man may call himself a democrat and still be a patriotic American in every sense of the word. He has been too good a patriot to follow his party leaders in their ill treatment of American industries and of his old comrades in arms or in the endorsement of the shamful Hawaiian policy of the administration. After the fourth of March he will retire to private life, and he will carry with him the good wishes of all true patriots.

Hon. Chester I. Long, the man who defeated Jerry Simpson for Congress, is spending his honeymoon in Washington and is regular in his attendance upon the sitting of the House. He says he wishes to familiarize himself with the routine of his future duties.

When Mr. Cleveland nominated Senator Ransom to be minister to Mexico he disappointed many members of the, soon to be "ex" family As usual when Senators are nominated for other offices Mr. Ransom's nomination was confirmed with the formality of a committee conference.

A Cave of Wonders.

Workingmen in quarrying stones at Waddles, a station on the P. R. R., a short distance from State College, Pa., discovered an interesting natural phenomenon in the shape of a cave. The opening to the subterranean cavern is about four feet square, and opens into a space nine feet high and twenty feet deep. Large apertures leading downward through solid rocks are numerous in the floor of the interior cavity. A stone dropped into one of the openings produces a clear, ringing sound such as emitted by a bell. Streams of flowing water can be distinctly heard at a distance below the surface. On all sides of the interior of the cavern are rare and grotesque calcareous formations of salagmites and stalactites. At one end of the large interior cavern an opening extends into the earth a distance already explored of over 100 feet. This aperture is comparatively small and can only be explored by crawling on hands and knees. Several valuable and unique Indian relics have been found and it is thought to have been the secreting place of some early settlers from the attacks of the hostile tribes. It is a curious fact that the newly discovered cave is but a short distance from the celebrated Penn's cave, and its external appearance is similar.—Tyrone Herald.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

From our Regular Correspondent.

NEW YORK, February 23, 1895.

Wall street is fairly taken by surprise at the stupendous success attending the Syndicate's negotiation of the new treasury loan. Two weeks ago all was in the gloom of utter uncertainty as to whether the treasury could be kept afloat, or it must sink from lack of rescue. Now, the status of the public credit is elevated before the world by bids for ten times the amount of bonds offered, and by the fact that the major part of the subscription is made in Europe. This fact is as remarkable for its revelation of the large amount of capital seeking employment as it is for its evidence of the still high standing of our national credit. The result so far exceeds all that Wall Street has been anticipating, that it is taken by surprise by the sudden appearing of a new situation, for which it has not been prepared, and the utilization of which it has as yet no immediate plans. There, however, can be no second opinion as to what all this portends. There is no place for "bearing," and buying must henceforward be the order of speculation, backed by a large reinforcement of confidence in London and on the Continent. Indeed, we take it that the events of the past week will strike the keynote for a revival of confidence the world over, and for a general recovery of business that has been held in suspense for the last three years. We may expect to witness, at an early day, the effects of the marshalling of men of capital for promoting a lively speculative campaign; but, during the interval of preparation by those leaders, the market may not show any especially striking changes.

Bull speculation in London in American securities is likely, from all indications, to soon start up, and it will probably be as pronounced as it has been in the opposite direction since the Baring panic of November, 1890. The Rothchilds and other leading London bankers had a foreshadowing of the overloaded condition of the Baring firm, and, in anticipation of their collapse, were quick to shift their load of Americans to this side; and there has been no time since then—now 4½ years—that the London attitude has been not only to [illegible] ties, but to encourage the selling of everything American. The foreign press has also been dead against our investments, and their attacks have been of a most vigorous character. Recently, for the lack of something better, South African "holes in the ground," supposed to contain gold, have been seized upon with avidity. As an evidence of the wild speculative spirit that has come over London operators, an enterprise known as the Rand Mines in South Africa, which has not only paid no dividends, but has none in sight, has been able to advance its shares from £1 each to £25. Under a recent reaction they are now actively dealt in at £22 a share. A great many similar schemes have advanced in equal proportions with immense dealings in them. Such a boom probably has never been equaled before. Paris, Berlin and other Continental markets have also participated in the speculative furore with great success. The profits which many operators have realized are fabulously large, and private advices from London are to the effect that the successful operators in these South African properties are now ready and willing to take hold of American railroad shares, providing the currency of the country is put on a fairly safe footing; in fact, inasmuch as they consider our range of prices now phenomenally low, the inclination is to do it in any case.

The immense subscription in London to the current bond loan is an evidence that foreigners have a higher estimation of the intrinsic worth of United States Government bonds than we have in this country. The signal success in floating this loan cannot fail to lead the way to a revival of confidence in American railroad securities which are now down to prices that should make them look inviting, for speculative ventures at least. The speculative spirit in all the European money centres is rampant, as we have indicated from the African gold craze. The silver movement in the Senate has come to an end not only without serious consequences but with significant symptoms of its growing weakness; which will afford an opportunity for other important measures to be called up, including the Pooling bill, which, together with the appropriation bills, will about fill up the short time remaining of this wretched Congress, the ending of which will terminate, to a very large extent, the suffering of almost every household throughout the land. It would certainly appear from all present indications that better times are at hand.

To recapitulate, the things in sight to be considered in diagnosing the situation, are the following:—

The Pooling bill may yet pass this Congress.

The adjournment of Congress, now near at hand.

The new crops will bring the benefits accruing from a sheltering winter.

The opening of the Spring trade has a very fair promise.

The $100,000,000 gold reserve is made good.

The London connection, under the lead of the Rothchilds, with the new Government loan, again opens the door in London to American securities.

The big profits that will be realized from the bond negotiation may be expected to encourage the buying of other American securities on an important scale.

The prospects, therefore, are quite good for a turn in the tide of Wall Street.

Exhaustion frequently means starvation. It is quite true that a person may consume a great deal of food and yet starve. The food that is not assimilated is worse than no food, for it irritates and clogs the already languishing. There is no harder worked down-trodden stomach—a stomach that has been crammed year after year with stuff it could not convert into a vital principal—I do wish that my friends who write me so much about their stomach troubles would try Bovinine carefully and conscientiously for a few months. I wish they would throw away their nasty, life-destroying drugs, and decline to admit any indigestible stuff into their stomachs. Bovinine is a preparation adapted to inflamed and exhausted conditions. It is pure raw food, made from the best meat, and is certainly unmedicated. It is palatable, is digested without an effort, and in consequence is perfectly assimilated. Try it, my friends, and then write how you feel.

THE LAW STRIPPED OUT.

A Williamsport Bank Clerk in a Serious Peck of Trouble.

Philadelphia, February 20.—The brief career in crime of a hitherto trusted bank clerk was cut short in this city this morning through the efforts of Post office Inspector Wallace C. Moore and several bank officials. The clerk is John C. Gilmore, lately living at No. 503 North Forty fourth street this city, but until the middle of January connected with the West Branch National bank, of Williamsport, and living in that town, Gilmore, who has also used the name C. R. Jones, D. S. McDonald and F. P. Schade, had just removed the mail from his box (No. 346) in the post office at 9.20 o'clock this morning, when he was approached by Inspector Moore and requested to come up stairs and see about complaints in a lost mail matter in which he was interested.

Gilmore complied with the request and found awaiting him several officers of the Delaware County Trust company, of Chester, and Detective Bond of the city force. Mr. Moore, however, took him aside and in a very few moments elicited a full confession from the clerk, who is a well dressed and intelligent appearing man, about 26 years of age.

This confession cleared up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of five valuable letters sent out by the First National bank of Williamsport the 16th of last November and which never reached their destination. The bank claimed that these had been mailed and must have been stolen from the mails, and this had caused Inspector Moore to be detailed on the case. The letters were addressed to the correspondents of the bank in New York, Philadelphia, Wilbesbarre, Elmira, and Shamokin and represented a great deal of clerical work, the cash and time aggregating $60,000.

Mr. Moore, therefore turned his prisoner over to Detective Bond for a hearing, before Magistrate Milligan, who had endorsed a warrant from Chester, Delaware county.

Gilmore admitted that on January 14 and 15 he forged the name W. H. Painter, cashier of the West Branch National bank to two sight drafts on the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank, of this city. One was in the name of D. S. McDonald, and was for $460, and the other for $500 was in favor of F P. Schade. The $460 draft was deposited on the 8th of February with the Delaware Country Trust company at Chester, but the suspicions of J. Frank Challenger, the young receiving teller, were aroused by the manner of Gilmore, who said he desired to open an account, giving his name as D. S. McDonald. Mr. Challenger, declined to allow him to open an account unless he was fully identified, and by a series of leading questions had his suspicions strengthened. Mr. Challenger called to John Doak Goff, the secretary and paying teller, and he also questioned the alleged McDonald, who was then allowed to depart, with the understanding that he was to leave the draft for collection and to call the following Tuesday. by the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank without question, and had not the Delaware County company acted promptly Gilmore would have probably got this money.

On the return of the treasurer, James A. G. Campbell, from lunch he was informed of the suspicions of Challenger and Goff, and that night a complete description of D. S. McDonald was on its way to Williamsport. Unfortunately the blizzard delayed the mails and McDonald telephoned on Tuesday about the draft, but was put off and requested to call on Wednesday.

Instead of calling, Gilmore, as the Delaware trust company had expected, floated a check for the amount through the Equitable Trust company of this city. In the meantime the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank had remitted the amount of the draft to the Delaware County Trust company yesterday and immediately afterwards its officers instructed detectives to meet its treasurer at Broad Street station. The result was the apprehension of Gilmore this morning. He had been watched for at the house on Forty-fourth street yesterday afternoon, but did not appear.

The other draft was deposited about the same date with the Central Trust company, of Camden, N. J., from which Gilmore received a bank account book and blank checks, and he afterwards drew a check for the full amount ($500) certified by C. R. Jones. This draft was also cashed

Gilmore was taken before Magistrate Milligan at the central station this afternoon and required to enter $1,200 for his appearance at the Delaware County court.

In a Prison Cell.

Chester, Pa., Feb. 20.—John F. Gilmore, the Williamsport bank clerk, who was arrested to-day for forgery and attempts to defraud, was brought to this city to-night and given a hearing before Magistrate Berry on the charge of attempting to obtain money by false pretenses from the Delaware County Trust company. He was put under $1,000 bail and committed in default. Gilmore begged the officers to let him go to a hotel as he did not want to sleep in a cell, but his pleadings were in vain.

Charges of Bribery to be Investigated.

Columbus, O., Feb. 25.—At the meeting of the local trades and labor assembly tonight President Mark Wild demanded that a committee be appointed to go to the bottom of the charges of bribery recently made in the miners' convention against John McBride, president of the American Federation of Labor. There was but one member present opposed to this and the committee was appointedf The sentiment of the delegates was that if McBride was guilty of forgeries and other irregularities he should not be permitted to serve out his term as president of the American Federation of Labor. The committee was authorized to make a mos searching investigation without regard to reasonable expense.

Rev. Pattison causes a Sensation.

Otsego, Mich., Feb. 25.—The members of the Ladies' Library club, of this village recently gave a performance of Long fellow's "Spanish Student" some wearing the costumes which the male parts demanded. Yesterday Rev. L. N. Pattison pastor of the Methodist church, preached a sermon on the "Stage, Its Use and Abuse." He set forth a serie of supposition in which he suggested that the ladies, some of them mothers and none of them under 20 years of age, had been immodest in exhibiting themselves to the public He also paid his compliments to the business men who had distinguished themselves as bald heads and sat in the front row, and claimed that the bald head row was an adjunct of a low down theatre. The ladie attacked are of Otsego's best society. They are indignant and threaten to cause the arrest of Mr. Pattison for slander.

Gold Syndicate Deposits.

New York, Feb. 25.—In the allotment of the bonds by the Morgan Belmont syndicate the bidders for $5,000 and under, and the foreign exchange houses which ship gold, were awarded the full amount of their bids; savings banks received sixty per cent. of their bids and others 10 to 20 per cent. of the amount of subscription. The syndicate is turning over to the sub-treasury all gold received on account of subscriptions, which is charged to syndicate account on the sub-treasury and gold receipts issued therefor. The government will consequently receive a much larger amount of gold than the $65,000,000 for which the bonds are issued. One member of the syndicate estimates that at least $80,000,000 gold will have been deposited by the syndicate before the contract with the government is completed.

Charged With Swindling.

Lebanon, Pa., Feb. 25.—Ira W. Kline, Manager of the Sunbeam Publishing Company, located at Annville, was arrested here to-day on the charge of false pretense. M. A. Meyers, the prosecutor, alleges that the defendant swindled him and others out of $8,000 through fraud and false pretense. Meyers claims that Kline represented his publication to have a monthly circulation of 40,000 copies, and that the company had no debts. He says he has since ascertained that the circulation never reached that figure, and that the company had numerous debts. Kline gave bail for court.

All Ready for the State Encampment.

Williamsport, Feb. 25.—The Grand Army Posts of this city have everything in readiness for the holding of the state encampment. Full 5,000 visitors are expected. Besides the veterans, the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Woman's Relief circle will meet here the same days, Feb. 27 and 28. Quite a number of veterans have already arrived and every train adds to the number of strangers. A meeting of the Pennsylvania Reserves will be held to-morrow evening at the Updegraff to elect a president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Andrew G. Curtin.

COFFEE MILLS SCORCHED.

Big Fire at the Arbuckles' Plant in Brooklyn.

Brooklyn, Feb. 21.—Fire broke out in the Arbuckle Bros. big coffee mills at John and Jay streets and the East river at 4.40 p. m. to-day. A number of men and girls employed in the mills had narrow escapes. Half a dozen sustained burns and injuries from jumping, but there was no loss of life. The fire started in the largest of the three buildings occupied by the firm. It was an eight-story building and abuts on the river. Nearly 100 girls were employed in the building and there were 250 people all told in the structure when the fire began.

The flames shut off the retreat of eight men who were at work on the eighth floor. Ladders were put up, but would only reach to the seventh floor. Six of the men who were on the eighth floor procured a rope, down which they slid to the top of the ladder, and then made their way to the ground. The other two men ran to the roof and finding all other means of escape cut off, jumped down two stories to the roof of the six-story building adjoining. They were Joseph Smith and D. B. Carr. Both men fractured bones in the ankles. Fireman Wallace was badly burned about the face and hands. None of the girls were at work on the upper floor where the fire started. They were nearly all on the third and fourth floor. About half of them got out the front way into the street, while about forty escaped at the rear and were driven to the end of the dock by the heat and flying embers. They were terror stricken when they found themselves penned in by the flames. Finally a steam lighter came to their rescue. The height of the buildings made it hard work for the firemen to put out the fire, and the three upper floors of the eight-story building were burned out before the fire was under control. Loss is about $300,000.

Pattison Congratulates Warwick.

Philadelphia, Feb. 21.—Mayor-elect Warwick was again overwhelmed with congratulations to-day. While transacting business in the Chestnut Street National bank he accidentlly met ex-Governor Pattison. Mr. Warwick approached his recent opponent, cordially grasped his hand and said: 'Governor, I am more than pleased to see you. We had quite a lively canvas.' Mr. Pattison smiled cherily, and warmly shaking Mr. Warwick's hand, offered his congratulations: "I am, of course, sorry I failed," said the ex-Governor, "but you have my best wishes as a citizen for a successful administration." They again shook hands and parted.

No Cruelty at Wernersville.

Reading, Feb. 25.—At this afternoon's session of the legislative committee at the Wernersville Asylum, the evidence showed conclusively that there was not the slightest foundation for the charges of ill-treatment of patients. Those who claimed to have been injured, it was shown by the testimony of Dr. Ewing and others, were hurt by trying to escape from the institution, and one of them after reaching Conshohocken, where he got into a barroom fight. The committee was only in session a short time, when it adjourned, apparently satisfied that the charges were groundless. They went to Harrisburg this afternoon.

McClure's Magazine for March.

In variety and significance of theme, wealth of illustration, and eminence of contributors, McClure's Magazine for March will be found a very notable number. Mr. Gladstone furnishes an article on "The Lord's Day" wherein he shows, with his accustomed learning, by what authority and with what spiritual intention Christians keep as sabbath the first instead of the seventh day of the week, and wherein he indicates the true standard of Christian sabbath observance. Following is a series of most interesting portraits of Mr. Gladstone, showing him at short intervals from six years of age down to the present time. Conan Doyle supplies a dramatic short story of the Franco-Prussian war, and also a short paper relating his personal experiences in crossing a most difficult alpine pass in midwinter on ski—wooden runners strapped to the feet. Stanley J. Weyman has a story of the free handed, high spirited court life of the time of Henry IV, of France. Mrs. E. V. Wilson tells a tragic story of a blizzard on the Western prairies. Drs. Biggs and Park, who as members of the New York City Health Department have had supervision of the manufacture of anti-toxine serum which promises to deprive diphtheria of most of its malignity, describes in fully illustrated articles the slow, difficult, and costly processes by which the new remedy is prepared, the manner of its administration, and the results that attend its use. The Napoleon pictures in this number include portraits of Marie Louise, his second wife, and of his son, the king of Rome, and a famous picture of the final scene between Napoleon and Josephine prior to their divorce. Miss Tarbell's paper relates the story of the divorce and the second marriage, and describes Napoleon's crowning measures for the perpetuation of a power now grown as wide as Europe. Marion Crawford, in a "real conversation" with Robert Bridges, author of "Overheard in Arcady," tells the story of his literary life.

The State and Public Education.

Mr. Farr, of Lackawanna County, who has distinguished his career in the Legislature by his persistent advocacy of compulsory education, is urging his bill again at the present session. That bill would now be the law but for the interposition of a veto by Governor Pattison. If Mr Farr succeeds in persuading this Legislature to pass it anew we believe it will go on the statute book. Republican Governors are not disposed to stand in the way of any measure that promises to make for the public education, and Governor Hastings is least of all likely to follow his predecessor in this backward course.

The compulsion proposed by Mr. Farr is very moderate. It applies only to children between the ages of 8 and 13, and is satisfied with sixteen weeks per year of schooling. Certainly this is little enough to insist upon as a preliminary to the exercise of the rights of citizenship in Pennsylvania. These children are prospective voters and the safety of the Commonwealth requires that their shell of ignorance shall be cracked sufficiently to allow a little book knowledge to penetrate their intelligence. The scant four months of schooling yearly for five years is sufficient to enable them to read, and to such the whole domain of knowledge is open if they seek it, and some share of it is certain to reach them even unsought.

The fact that Mr. Farr has got a Legisture to pass his bill before gives ground for hope that this Legislature may also be persuaded by his arguments in favor of compulsory education. The action of the Senate, however last week in voting down the bill extending the minimum school year from six months to seven discourages the hope that a majority will be found in that branch for public education. The sections of the State which need improved schooling most show their want of it by sending to Harrisburg men who have no just conception of the value of education, and who are satisfied with six months of open school each year, with poorly paid and ill equipped teachers.

These sections are glad enough to get public school money and then use it, not to improve their schools but to reduce the taxes. The State needs compulsory education—if for nothing else to secure the retirement of those legislators who think six months schooling is enough for their children, and that the State public school appropriation can be put to a better use than to the improvement and maintenance of public school.

Their First Appearance was Delightful.

The first appearance of the Pennsylvania State College Glee and Banjo clubs for this season was in a very successful entertainment in the College chapel on Saturday evening last. The Glee club is composed of sixteen voices, and treated a large audience to the best entertainment that has been given in the chapel this year. The efforts of the club were highly appreciated, and never failed to merit energetic and prolonged applause. The performance of the Banjo club was, if possible, more of a hit than that of the Glee club. Their rendering of "Flirtation March" and a selection from "Il Trovatore" could not be improved upon, and the other pieces given were executed in the same brilliant style and with similar unquestionable success. It is impossible to imagine better music than that afforded by the eleven instruments of this club, or to wish for better amusement than listening to the vocal selections presented by their contemporaries. The general pleasing effect was heightened by tasteful decorations from the conservatory of the Botanical department.

Boom the Centennial.

Only three months now interyene until the time set for the celebration of the centennial of Bellefonte, and thus far there has been literally nothing at all done. Now, if the citizens of Bellefonte desire to make this event a memorable one in the history of the town it will be necessary to do considerable hustling. The affair should not be left simply to a committee of councils. A public meeting of citizens should be called by the Burgess for as early a day as possible; a thorough organization should be effected, various committees appointed whose duty it would be to see that everything in their line was done properly and first class; and the movement to celebrate should never for a day be lost sight of. The council committee will have enough to do to see that the town is put in proper shape, to erect the public building and attend to the many other things that will come directly under its care and management. Therefore, Chief Burgess, why not call a meeting at once and proceed with this matter?

For Pennsylvania Volunteers.

Congressman Sickles, of New York, has introduced a bill in the house providing that military organizations furnished by Pennsylvania under the President's call of June 15, 1863, which rendered actual military service, shall be considered to have formed of the military establishment of the United States. The secretary of war is authorized to issue certificates of discharge for all honorably discharged members of the organizations referred to, but no person is to receive any pay, pension bounty or other allowances by reason of this act.

PHILIP COLLINS DEAD.

The Well Known Contractor Finally Succumbs Saturday Evening.

Just one week ago on Sunday a telegram came flashing over the wires from Ebensburg to Thomas Collins, Bellefonte, to come at once, Philip very low. Mr. Collins departed immediately and all through the week remained at the bedside of his brother until Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when the end came peacefully and almost painlessly, and thus passed away from this earth, at the age of 74 years, probably the best-known and most successful railroad contractor in the United States. Mr. Collins had been ill for nine months or more, at which time he was afflicted with a severe attack of rheumatism. About five months ago his kidneys became affected and he continued to grow worse and worse until a recently contracted cold made it plainly evident to all that recovery was impossible and death only a question of a brief period of time. Then his friends were summoned and ever since have remained to comfort his last hours.

Philip Collins was born in Cambria county and was one of a large family, being survived by two brothers, Thomas, of this place, and Peter, of Philadelphia, and three sisters, Mrs. Ellen Shoemaker and Misses Sarah and Elizabeth Collins of this place. Early in life in company with his brother Thomas, under the name of Collins Bros., he launched forth as a railroad contractor and has built more roads than perhaps any other man living. The firm's first contract was on the old Portage road in Cambria county, and since that time they have built and helped to build the Pennsylvania lines, the West Penn, the Southern Pennsylvania, the Beech Creek, Bellefonte Central, Lewisburg and Tyrone many miles for the Lehigh Valley, and minor roads. The celebrated Sand Patch tunnel, near Cumberland, was one of their greatest and most successful undertakings, many contractors having previously lost fortunes in their attempts to build it. About six years ago they undertook the contract of building the great Brazilian railroad and, owing to the failure of the Government to supply the money, the scheme collapsed and both Philip and Thomas Collins lost their fortunes in the enterprise. But they were full of pluck and enterprise and at once went to work with a will and succeeded in accumulating a second fortune almost equal to the first.

Mr. Collins was one of the projectors and founders of the Philadelphia Times, he having, in company with Col. A. K. McClure and Frank McLaughlin, started that paper, and also continued as a stockholder in the company up to within a few years ago.

In politics he was staunchly democratic, always adhering and supporting the party of his faith, but never asking favors nor accepting public office. Mr. Collins was twice married, his first wife being a daughter of Judge Newman, of Cambria county, and his second wife, to whom he was united about six years ago, a Miss Scammon. He is survived only by his second wife and brothers and sisters.

He was a faithful and consistent member of the Catholic church and his funeral, which took place Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, was from that church, interment was made at Ebensburg.

—A large number of students from the county districts are enrolled at the Bellefonte Academy this winter besides a number from a distance. This is one of the best known institutions of learning in the state which accounts for the large number of students in attendance each term.

Killed at Lewisburg.

James Haner, an engineer residing at East Lewisburg, met with an accident Monday morning at 8 o'clock which resulted in his death two hours later. He was working about the shafting in the engine room when, in some way his clothes were caught and he was pulled into the machinery. His right arm was severed at the shoulder and both legs were broken. Haner retained consciousness until he died at ten o'clock. He leaves a wife and four children.

Death of Mrs. Clerc.

Word comes from Philipsburg of the death in that place of Mrs. Clerc, wife of Rev. Francis J. Clerc, rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church, in that place. The funeral will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the services will be conducted by Rev. Robert Erskine Wright, of this place.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

The division of the mean day into 24 hours of 60 minutes each, originated with the Egyptians, then passed to Babylon and Greece. Why divided into 24 instead of some other number of hours, it is impossible to say. THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their personal condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

Trade Mark. These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merits are what they need.

All correspondence confidential and should be addressed to ADVERTISING pays: Newspaper advertising pays best of all. Our most successful and prosperous merchants and tradesmen, whose bright record has added imperishable lustre to the history of American commerce, can all testify to this truth from personal experience.

The newspaper is the commercial incity and country home, who tells at the fireside, to its evening circle, the merits of your wares and merchandise, if you are wise enough to employ it to speak for you It never is neglected, never goes unheeded, never speaks to inattentive or unwilling ears. It never bores. It never tires. It is always a welcome visitor and meets a cordial reception. It speaks when the day is done, when cares vanish, when the mind at peace and at rest is in its most receptive mood. Then it is that its story is told and all who read treasure what it says, and are influenced to go where it directs for the thing of which it speaks.

What other influences can be so potent to help trade as this quiet but powerful advocate?

Let it become a salesman in every home for your wares. Let it make its mighty plea for your benefit. And we assure you it will do more than all other influences to promote your business and put money in your purse.

In our long experience we know whereof we speak. Try it.

No Pension Under $6.

The conference report on the pension appropriation bill has been agreed to by both houses. The amendment by the Senate, repealing that part of the pension act of 1893 providing that no pension shall be paid to a non-resident of the United States, except for actual disabilities in curred in the service, is agreed to by the House.

A Senate provision was stricken out and the following substitute agreed to: "And it is provided that, from and after the passage of this act, all pensioners who are now on the rolls who are now pensioned at less than $6 a month, for any degree of pensionable disability, shall have their pension increased to $6 per month, and that hereafter whenever any application for pension would, under existing rates, be entitled to less than $6 for any single disability, or several combined disabilities, such pensioner shall be rated at not less than $6 per month; provided also that the provisions here shall not be held to cover any pensionable person prior to the passage of this act, nor authorize a rerating of any claims for any part of such period, nor prevent the allowance of lower rates than $6 per month, according to the existing practice in the pension office in pending cases covering any pensionable period to the passage of this act."

A Bill That Should Become a Law.

General D. B. McCreary, of Erie, has introduced a bill into our State Senate that should be promptly and favorably acted upon. It is to encourage the writing and publication of the history of the Pennsylvania regiments that fought in the war of secession, 1861 to 1865. The bill provides for a commission, consisting of the Adjutant General, the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the State Librarian, who are empowered to purchase, for the use of the public libraries, four hundred copies of the history of each regiment or battery from our State at the market value, and not exceeding $2.50 per copy.

This is a most important move that will meet the hearty endorsement of all the veterans now living, and the families and friends of those who are no more. Our State has been sadly remiss in this matter. Massachusetts, Connecticut and other States have had laws of this nature in force for some years past, and the result has been that almost every orgrnization that went to war from these States has a creditable history on the shelves of all the public libraries. On the contrary, the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that sent nearly half a million men to defend the Union, has only about two dozen regimental histories, of more than two hundred regiments and numerous batteries which were sent to the field.

Now is the proper time to aid and encourage the publication of these histories by the enactment of this excellent law. The survivors of the titanic struggle are rapidly passing away, and soon the regimental associations that now exist, and that are now the repositories of the most valuable historic data, will be no more. Before it is too late, and while many of the gallant men who participated in the great war are still with us, let the State aid in securing for future generations the records of these regiments, composed of Pennsylvania's own sons, so replete with historic value and rich with glowing deeds of valor Every family in the State that gave a member to the Army of the Union is interested in this move. Let the bill pass quickly.

Something of Interest About This Christian Organization.

There was a decided increase in our daily attendance during the past month over that of last year. The reading room is filled with all the leading and illustrated papers, and popular monthly magazines; and we cordially invite all lovers of good literature to visit our rooms. Come often. If you like the pleasant hour spent in our cosy quarters, why not invest a two dollar bill in a years' membership? Why not?

This is an Association, and as such there should be a strong fraternal spirit among the members. We are not merely an institution, where for a few dollars we may obtain this or that necessity; but we are a great brotherhood of young men with common interest in a great social organization. As such, each individual should have the welfare of the Association at heart. Any overt act reflects in the entire body and on oneself. Any effort is a benefit to one and all alike. Let us hold up the standard of the Association and learn to love the fellowship of the members. Let us try to make it a great family of young men, always conducting ourselves as if in our own homes, and treating each other as brothers. The membership is climbing upward; who will be the next to join?

***

Our New State Secretary, S. M. Bard, made us a call on Friday afternoon. We hope to give our members an opportunity to make his acquaintance in the near future.

***

Reader! are you interested in the Association? Talk about it. Hustle! And the way to do it, is to bring in a new member.

***

Anyone with an unbiased and unprejudiced mind cannot fail to realize that the work of the Association pays. Visit the rooms occasionally. Identify yourself with the work. We have been somewhat surprised at the liberal contributions given by some of the citizens. The secret is, they have boys who have been benefitted by the Association. On the other hand, there are many boys who are benefitted, but their parents do not give toward the support of this worthy institution. Why not?

Complete Valley Forge Park.

The Pennsylvania Legislature of 1893 took steps to acquire and preserve Valley Forge as a public park and historic landmark. The intrenchments, redoubts and fortifications thrown up by Washington's army of patriots in the cruel winter of 1777-78 are still easily traced there, though more or less impaired and obscured by the ravages of time. The act proposed that these fortifications shall be maintained as nearly as possible in their original condition as a military camp and preserved for the enjoyment of the people of the State. A commission was authorized and appointed to purchase and take charge of the contemplated park and an appropriation of $25,000 was made for the purpose.

This commission, of which Mr. Francis M. Brooke, of this city, is the efficient chairman, has been vigorously executing its trust and the task assigned to it is far advanced. It has acquired title, or is in the process of acquiring title, by condemnation, to 217½ acres, at a total cost, including claims against the commission, of $35-000. The commission, therefore, is obliged to ask the Legislature for an appropriation of $10,000 to meet the deficiency. It wants another $10,000 to maintain the redoubts and intrenchments on the land and to build roads and paths. It finds, too, the original plan of acquiring only the land occupied by the main and inner fortifications makes the park incomplete and an imperfect realization of its declared design. The commission asks authority, therefore, to extend the boundaries of the park so as to include the outer intrenchments of Valley Forge camp by the purchase of about 300 additional acres, and for this purpose it asks for an appropriation of $50,000.

This will make a park of a little over 500 acres, which will inclose the whole of Washington's Winter quarters and serve excellently as a camping ground for the National Guard of the State. The additional area proposed in the bill will allow the National Guard of the State free scope for necessities without endangering any historic landmarks within the area of the park. The total cost—less than $100,000, including the appropriation already made—is moderate with this park, as the commission proposes to deal with it. The State long neglected this interesting Revolutionary heritage. It can be acquired and prepared for public enjoyment now more easily and more cheaply than hereafter. We hope the Legislature will deal generously with the commission, and allow it to carry out the Valley Forge Park purpose in the intelligent and sympathetic spirit with which it has begun this work. Let it complete this noble conception in a way that will reflect the highest credit on the patriotism and liberality of this great Commonwealth.

THE GRAND ARMY.

State Meeting of the Annual Encampment Is Now in Session.

Williamsport, Pa., Feb. 27.—This was a lively day among the veterans, who assembled in twenty-ninth annual session at 10.30 o'clock. After Department Commander Emsly had called the delegates to order an address of welcome on behalf of Williamsport was delivered by Mayor Elliot, and responded to by Adjutant General Stewart. The reports of the department officers were then presented and referred to the several committees. The department commander reviewed the work of the year at length, and made many suggestions and recommendations. Assistant Adjutant General Morrison's report shows that there were seven new posts mustered in during the year and six disbanded. The total gain in membership was 377; members in good standing on December 31 last, 44,101; number remaining suspended, 2,364; number of posts, 622; number of members dropped, 741; number to whom relief was given, 1,632; amount expended for relief, $28, 34·65.

Assistant Quartermaster General Levering's report showed a balance of $2,572. The receipts during the year were $14,309 expenditures, $11,787; available for the relief fund, $20,963. The encampment then proceeded with the election of officers as follows:

Department commander, H. H. Cumings, of Tideout; senior vice department commander, Thomas M. Fields, of Connellsville: junior vice department commander. Lemuel Buch, of Reading; department medical director, Dr. W. B. Stiles, of Philadelphia; department chaplain, John W. Sayres, of Reading. The remainder of the officers will be elected to-morrow.

At the afternoon session a resolution was introduced to suspend the usual semi-annual encampment, in accordance with the department commanders report. Chambersburg was selected as the next place of meeting.

The important features of the day were meetings of the ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic and Woman's Relief corps, both of which were largely attended.

Retiring Department commander Emsly was made the recipient of a costly silver punch bowl, as a testimonial from the members of his staff. Other officials also received remembrances.

This evening's camp fires in the court house and Association hall were largely attended and enthusiastic as to every detail. Adjutant General Stewart was the principal speaker. The encampment will come to a conclusion to-morrow.

AN ALDERMAN CURED.

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the Best and Surest Spring Medicine. Mr. Crouch and Editor J. C. Gere, in the Daily Hampshire Gazette, Give This Wonderful Remedy a Glowing Tribute.

ALDERMAN CHAS. S. CROUCH.

The editorial columns of the Northampton (Mass.) Daily Hampshire Gazette of Dec. 28th, give the particulars of the remarkable cure by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, of Alderman Charles S. Crouch, one of Northampton's ablest and best known statesmen.

Editor J. C. Gere, of this leading newspaper, personally investigated the facts of this wonderful cure, and his widely-read editorial states the details of the cure exactly as they occurred, giving Hon. Mr. Crouch's own words.

Following is the editorial in full:

Learning that a great cure had been effected in Alderman Chas. S. Crouch, of Northampton, Mass., by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, a reporter took occasion to call on Mr. Crouch and talk with him about it, and among the thousands of testimonials given to this world-renowned medicine, none will be more widely read or give greater weight than this one coming from so noted a man as Alderman Crouch.

Mr. Crouch is one of the plain, old-fashioned kind of men, outspoken, and always means just what he says. In conversation with Mr. Crouch, he said:

"Last spring I did not feel in my usual health; felt as tired in the morning as when I retired; had no energy or ambition to go about a days work; no appetite with which to regain strength and energy. In this condition I worked along from week to week, thinking that after a while matters would right themselves and I would feel like myself again. But to the contrary I grew worse.

"Knowing that Dr. Greene's Nervura was not a patent medicine, but a medicine put up from a prescription discovered by the doctor in his private practice, I resolved to try it. The first bottle helped me so much that I purchased another one, and even a third bottle, when, to my great joy, I found myself as well as ever I was in my life; and furthermore, have remained so."

In further conversation he said:

"Dr. Greene's Nervura is a great medicine. There is no humbug about it! It was made to cure, and it does cure! No one need be afraid to use it."

Day by day he praises this wonderful medicine to his friends and neighbors, as the one sure way to regain their health.

His wife, also, used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to great advantage, and, like her husband, has been cured and enjoys her old time health.

Mr. Crouch has always been an active man in town and city affairs. In old town meeting days he was always on hand to help with his eloquent oratory the pressing needs of the time, and since Northampton has become a city he has served for several years in its government, and at the last election he received the largest vote for alderman he ever had. He is a contractor, and during the past few years has built some of the finest houses in the city. Both Mr. and Mrs. Crouch gave Dr. Greene the praise of giving them a medicine that will cure and keep them well.

The word of this widely-known government official, Alderman Crouch, should have the most convincing weight with the public, but when we have added to this the fact that the Northampton Daily Hampshire Gazette, a newspaper of the highest standing, vouches editorially for the truth of every word, and its editor states that he has personally investigated all the facts of the marvelous cure, there should be no hesitation by the people to use this great medical discovery, this wonderful curer of disease, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is a fact no longer to be doubted, that this remedy cures—that it makes those who use it well and strong—that it is the surest and most certain cure for disease known at the present day.

It is the very best of all spring medicines, and should be taken now by all who are weak, nervous and run down, to strengthen the nerves and invigorate the blood.

It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that this medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time free of charge, personally or by letter, gives assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

Smothered to Death in Malt.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Henry V. Humphrey, an Englishman, aged 45, met a horrible death by suffocation at the Lake View Malt house. Humphrey and two others had been sent to draw dry malt from an upstairs bin, through chutes into a bin on the ground floor. While the malt was running Humphrey stepped into the upper bin and his feet were at once sucked under the rushing malt. His comrades were unable to rescue him, and before the chutes could be shut off from below his head was buried under four feet of malt. When dug out the man was dead.

WARWICK THE WINNER.

Republicans Elect Their Candidate for Mayor of Philadelphia.

MAJORITY EXCEEDED PREDICTIONS

It Is Estimated That Warwick's Vote Exceeds That of Ex-Governor Pattison by 50,000 to 60,000—Decreased Republican Majority in Senator Penrose's Ward.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—All indications point to the election of Charles F. Warwick as mayor of this city by a majority estimated at from 53,000 to 60,000 over Robert E. Pattison, the ex-governor of the state. William J. Roney, the Republican candidate for receiver of taxes, has evidently been largely cut by his party, but his majority over Colonel Sylvester Bonnaffon, the Democratic and reform candidate, is estimated at 40,000. Twelve police magistrates, eleven select councilmen and seventy-nine common councilmen have been elected, and present indications are that the Republicans have these offices.

The most sanguine of the Republican leaders did not hope for a majority higher than 35,000 or 40,000, while Governor Pattison yesterday expressed himself as confident that he would be elected by about 20,000 plurality.

CHARLES FRANKLIN WARWICK.

That the Pennsylvania Democracy—the faction opposed to the leadership of National Chairman Harrity—cut Pattison is indicated by the fact that the Twelfth ward, which usually goes Democratic, gave Warwick 400 majority.

The Municipal League made a strenuous effort to prevent fraud, and had watchers employed in nearly every one of the almost 1,000 divisions in the city. It also notified every election officer that any one caught signing an election return before the polls closed would be prosecuted and sent to jail.

The returns came in very slowly, but in fifteen wards out of the thirty-seven there was a majority of 23,000 for Warwick. These same wards gave Hastings 35,000 over Singerly in the late gubernatorial election, when the total municipal majority was 85,000.

The greatest interest was manifested in this election, as it long since assumed the shape of a desperate fight against the Republican "combine," headed by David Martin and Senator Charles A. Porter. The "throwing down" by these leaders of Senator Penrose just before the convention, at which it was generally supposed he would be nominated, created a great deal of disaffection among Republicans, and led to the open breach between Senator Quay and the leaders of the "combine."

The returns from the Eighth ward—Senator Penrose's ward—show a majority for Warwick of 1,007. Hastings' majority in the ward last November was 1,898.

IN OTHER PENNSYLVANIA CITIES.

Governor Hastings Did Not Leave the Capital to Cast His Vote.

Harrisburg—This city has never seen a less exciting municipal election than that of yesterday. A light vote was polled and comparatively little interest was taken by either party. Business was practically suspended at the capitol, as, with few exceptions, the heads of departments and their assistants went home to vote. Governor Hastings, however, was at his post, his candidates at Bellefonte being sure of election.

Lancaster — The election here was for councilmen and school directors. The Republicans carried every ward but the Eighth. They elected 24 out of 27 common councilmen and the selectmen in the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards. The latter has always been Democratic. Each party elected six school directors. The proposition to increase the city debt $170,000 was defeated.

Tunkhannock—A light vote has been polled in this county, owing to the bad roads. The election of E. J. Jordan and James H. Codding, Republican candidates to fill the unexpired term of Myron B. Wright in the present congress and the full term in the Fifty-fourth congress, respectively, is assured.

Pittsburg—The election here passed off quietly, with a light vote cast. The only contest of any consequence was that over the issue by the city of $4,750,000 worth of bonds for street improvements, water extension, sewers, etc. The indications are that the bond issue has been agreed to by at least 15 to 1.

Sunbury—The Republicans in Sunbury and East Sunbury boroughs have elected a majority of councilmen. The other borough offices are divided. Sunbury defeated the proposition to increase the school debt $15,000 by 10 votes. East Sunbury voted for electric lights.

Hazleton—The vote in this city is very close, but the indications are that the following having been elected: Altmiller (rep.) for mayor, Greveling (rep.) for treasurer, Jacobs (dem.) for controller. The township ticket is Republican.

Reading—Reading defeated a proposition to borrow $900,000 for permanent improvements by a majority of 1,500. The Republicans will have a majority of about three on joint ballot in the new councils.

Chambersburg—The Republicans elected their borough ticket by 275 majority, and carried every ward except the Third, where the Democrats elected the assessor and school director.

Carlisle—The Carlisle Democrats gain one councilman, making that body Democratic by a majority of 9 to 3. The Republicans elected their candidates for assessor and auditor.

Erie—The election in Erie for council and school directors resulted in a majority in both for the Republicans. The government is entirely Republican now.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

How Fast Do You Live?

The pace at which Americans live is admitted to be quite the reverse of tortoise-like,—indeed, has become so rapid that an important question at the present time is, "How Long Can This Pace Last?" This question is answered by such well-known authorities as Edwin Gould, Charles Dana Gibson, Judge J. F. Daly, William Wetmore Story, Prof. Edwin Checkley, and Dr. Mary Walker, in Demorest's Magazine for March, and everyone should read what they say. A decidedly sweet article, "Sugar Time Among the Maples," will appeal to all lovers of the delectable amber syrup, twin with the buckwheat cake. The illustrations with this are especially fine, and also those with a humorous article, Some Color Sketches," which treats of negro types indigenous to our Southern States. "How to Play the Piano Without a Teacher" is another of those helpful articles conveying instruction, for which Demorest's is noted. The story matter is bright and timely. "Sanitarian" treats of "How Food Affects Temperament," and it would pay people to read it, and perhaps induce them to mend their ways in the matter of food. Boys will be interested in how to make "A Spinning Kite," which will rise higher, fly farther, and be more fun than any other ever made. Every department filled to overflowing with good things,—in fact this is a typical number of the ideal family magazine published by W. Jennings Demorest, at 15 East 14th St., for only $2 a year.

ALMOST A RIOT.

Savannah Was Saved by Prompt Military Intervention.

Savannah, Ga., February 26.—Savannah escaped a riot to-night through the intervention of the military. The trouble was precipitated by ex Priest Joseph Stattery's lecture on the Roman Catholic priesthood. For several days efforts have been made by members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to revoke the ex-priest's permit to deliver the lecture, but the mayor upon legal advice said it could not be done. Threats were openly made against the lecturer, and the chief of police and a detail of officers was ordered on duty at the hall where the lecture was to be delivered. The lecture contained no offensive language until the crowd which had gathered on the outside began to hurl stones through the windows and among the audience.

The police ordered the crowd to disperse. It refused to do so and kept on shouting and jeering. The mayor was notified, and after a consultation with the chief of police decided to order out the militia. The riot alarm was sent in and half an hour eight companies of infantry and a troop of dismounted cavalry were on the scene. The lecture was over by this time and most of the audience had left the hall. A detail of mounted police stood guard at the door. The crowd numbered 2,000 by this time, largely spectators. A portion of it kept yelling and hurling bricks at the windows of the hall where the ex priest was. A few shots were fired in the air by the rioters, but no one was hurt.

The electric lights around the hall were broken by missiles, and for a time the neighborhood was in darkness. After the military arrived on the scene there was comparative quiet.

The streets were cleared for a block in every direction, and the troops remained on guard until the disturbance has subsided, when the lecturer was brought out of the hall and escorted by a squad of twenty policemen, surrounded by two battalions of soldiers, walked to his botel. The crowd followed and jeered along the streets, but there were no attempts at an open attack.

Half an hour after the ex priest's wife was escorted from the hall to the hotel by a squad of police.

The Grand Army's Convention.

Williamsport, Pa., February 26.—About 2,000 delegates to the twenty-ninth annual winter encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, department of Pennsylvania have arrived and the city tonight bore a decidedly military appearance. The scenes in and around the leading hotels and on the streets were animating, as the veterans predominated at every point. The Ladies' Relief corps held an informal reception at the Park hotel during the day. They held a meeting and elected directors of the Brookville memorial home.

Perhaps the most important event of the evening was the meeting of the Pennsylvania Reserve association, at which officers were elected as follows: President, General John P. Taylor, of Lewistown, who succeeds the late ex Governor Andrew G. Curtin; vice president, J. F. Morrison, of Philadelphia; secretary, James McCormick, of Philadelphia, re-elected.

The contest for department commander is lively, but evidently one-sided, H. H. Cummings, of Tideout, seemingly being in a decided lead. James B. Denworth, of this city, is making a hot canvass for the office, but Cummings is backed by the solid Northwestern association, as well as many other sections of the state. He claims his election by more than a two-thirds majority. There is very little interest manifested in the other offices. The convention will assemble at 10 o'clock tomorrow forenoon.

Fire in Bellwood.

Bellwood Feb. 26.—At about 5 o'clock last evening, the fine brick residence of Thad. Stewart, on Main street, Bellwood, was discovered to be on fire and in a short time the attic and roof were ablaze. Before the fire could be gotten under control the upper stories of the mansion were badly damaged and the lower floor flooded with water. The fire apparently started in the attic. Most of Mr. Stewart's household goods were taken out, but more or less damaged. The Excelsior Hose company did excellent service.

"Charley's Aunt."

"Charley's Aunt" will be seen at the Opera House on Saturday evening March 2nd. It is one of the biggest comedy successes which this country has seen in years. It is full of good wholesale fun, spontaneous, uproarous, clean and unforced. It is a very simple thing, too, which causes most of it; a young man hasquerading, and masquerading in the most deliciously droll and awkward manner, in female apparel, with scarcely any attempt whatever at mimicking lady-like airs and traces. The comedy comes direct from its New York run and will be played here by an excellent company.

—Joseph Kitchen, aged 67, who lived on the Thomas farm in Boggs township, died at 8 o'clock this morning after an illness of several months. His funeral will take place Mouday afternoon at one o'clock, interment to be made in the Union cemetery, this place.

—A dramatic entertainment will be given in the O. U. A. M. hall, Milesburg, Saturday evening, March 2nd, for the benefit of the Milesburg Cornet band. It will be very amusing and entertaining and everybody should attend. You will enjoy a good laugh. Admission, 10 and 20 cents.

WEBSTER'S ADVICE TO WINTHRUP.

A Lesson of Experience. In the harsh school of experience man learns the ripest wisdom and is best qualified to teach. Every human life bears testimony to this fact.

Daniel Webster the greatest man cradled on New England soil in any century, at the goal of his career, looking backward and remembering his own experience, thus advised Robert C. Winthrup, then at the very threshold of that public life which sheds such imperishable lustre on his name.

"Winthrup, if I were as young as you are, and just beginning my Congressional career, I would adopt a different course than the one we are all pursuing in regard to speeches.

"I have lost my faith in long, labored efforts, to be printed a week after their delivery, and to be scattered over the country in pamphlets which nobody ever reads. I would speak short and often. I would take some part in every important discussion, and I would prepare every word which I proposed to say, and write it out beforehand, so as to give a copy to the reporters the moment I sat down. In this way the next morning's paper would let my constituents and the country see and read precisely what I had said."

Can this advice not be given with equal emphasis in relation to advertising? If the great orator makes one mighty effort on some stated occasion and lapses into silence, he is lost in the swift tide of events the remainder of the time. Heard often, he is constantly in the public thought. So, if the merchant has one grand display and does nothing the rest of the year, or only appears in print occassionally, people forget and go elsewhere the rest of the year. But let the daily columns proclaim his bargains in an attractive and novel manner, and the tide of trade to his counters is ceaseless in its flow. It is never permitted to ebb; is charged with constant success.

As Webster said to Winthrup, "Speak, speak," we say to business men, "Advertise, advertise." Be heard often in the right places and thousands of readers will become your daily audience, never forgetting where to trade.

Advertise: It Pays.

A Pertinent Paragraph.

"Our country if right, should be kept right; if wrong should be put right," is a political maxim which paraphrased applies to other conditions of life, thus: our health if right, should be kept right; if wrong should be put right, especially in bodily ailments, such as pains and aches, which St. Jacob's Oil promptly cures. Many out of work should heed to give it a chance to go to work cured. Another adage is: "he doeth best who doeth well." Well, of course, you want to be well from all sorts of aches, and the best thing to do is to use the great remedy. He who does so is doing well indeed.

Case of Apoplexy.

Mrs. Stover, an aged widnow, had a stroke of apoplexy, Thursday morning Feb. 21, at the home of her son-in-law, H. A. Kaufman near Centre Hall. Seemingly well she ate her breakfast, left the table and walked to the window and dropped over unconscious. She lingered until evening when death relieved her.

Her home is at Zion, Pa., where her husband J. Stover, died some years ago. She was about 70 years of age. Three children survive her: Isaac, at Zion, Pa., Noah J., Bonaccord, Kan; and Mrs. Kaufman, Centre Hall. The interment occurred on Monday at Zion.

Died at Centre Hall.

On Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock Mrs. Lydia Hoffer, wife of the venerable Peter Hoffer, died at their home in Centre Hall. The deceased was about 70 years of age. Her husband and two daughters, Miss Mollie and Mrs. Josiah Dale, survive her. John Keller of Potter township and Christ Keller of Philadelphia were brothers, and Mrs. Boozer, of Center Hall, a sister of the deceased. Interment occurs on Friday morning from the Reformed church of which she was a devout member.

Serious Explosion.

Huntingdon, Pa., February 27.—An explosion of powder in West Huntingdon will prove a painful warning to George Rupert, Chester Horton, Earl Horton, John Shaw, Robert Shaw, Lem Beatty and Thomas Earl, and it is yet feared that the explosion may have very serious results in Robert Shaw's case. The Rupert boy had [illegible] containin about ten pounds of gun pow[illegible]der, and [illegible] her boys collected about [illegible] results of the application [illegible] to portions of the powder poured on [illegible]board. With the can between his legs the leader of the crowd was refilling the board when the powder at the opening in the can came in contact with a spark, and the Rupert boy was hurled against a church building twenty feet away. His clothing immediately took fire, but he retained self possession, and by jumping into a nearby pond and rolling into the water succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Chester Horton escaped being burned to death by a similar act. All the boys are very badly burned, and one of the Horton lads may lose his eyesight. They range in age from 8 to 16 years. The concussion caused by the explosion was felt in houses a square away.

Home and Country, Corporal James Tanner, Editor, is unique among the magazines of our day, in that it seeks to encourage amateur as well as professional literary talent. If anything, it leans rather to the young, obscure and practically unknown American writers struggling for recognition, than to those whose names and fame are well known in the world of literature. And there is a reason for this.

Aiming to secure favor with the masses of the people; to reach a place in the homes of the many in our country rather than in the habitations of the favored few in the large cities, the object is to portray life as it really is. And this it succeeds in doing. The simpler the language of the story the more it appeals to those whom Lincoln was pleased to call the common people. Excellently well illustrated, the March Home and Country is a very attractive as well as interesting number.

A HACKETTSOWN MIRACLE.

An Interesting Recital.

From the (Hackettstown, N. J.) Republican.

Reports from time to time reached the Republican of the remarkable cure of Mrs. Jacob Shields, the wife of our leading coal merchant, who has been suffering from a complication of diseases that nearly resulted in her death. In order to verify these statements, one of our reporters called upon Mrs. Shields and found that the reports were in no way exagerated, and that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had saved her life.

The particulars of the case are these: "I was taken sick," said Mrs. Shields, "with typhoid fever, and was delirous for three weeks. When I recovered I suffered untold agony with my back and right limb. They felt as though they would burst. At the same time I suffered dreadfully with my kidneys. Blood would pass from me most of the time. My mother was with me and a friend of hers called and told her of the sickness they had passed through at her home, and that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had been used by them, and she felt sure I would find great benefit from its use.

A bottle was purchased, and I hadn't taken but a few doses before it began to relieve me, and in a few days some small sharp, white stones passed from me. That evening the doctor called, and I told him that I had stopped his medicine, for he told Mr. Sheilds the last time he called that he did not know what more to do for me. Some time before this, I was taken to the hospital, and then brought home, as was supposed, to die. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was taken just in time. I do thank God from the bottom of my heart that he ever sent that lady here to tell me of Favorite Remedy, otherwise death would have been my doom. Since I recovered, ever so many have told me that it was a miracle I ever got well. I certainly cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Many persons are using it upon my recommendation, and it is doing them good. I will cheerfully answer any questions," said Mrs. Shields, "in regard to my illness, feeling that others who may be suffering will be benefitted by using Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy."

No tribute could be greater than these words of Mrs. Shields, who voluntarily tells the story of her remarkable recovery.

Favorite Remedy ranks with the medical profession, as the most perfect of all blood and nerve medicines. It will cure all diseases of the skin, liver and kidneys, and the weaknesses peculiar to females, and affords great protection from attacks that originate in change of life. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, rheumatism, dyspepsia, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, gravel, diabetes and Bright's disease.

Non-assessable forever.
This company owns two gold mines located in a county which produced $40,000,000 in gold in six years. Has 45 acres of virgin land. Has 500 feet of underground work in shape of shafts and tunnels. Has ore in sight worth $100 per ton. Has assays from $25 to $1,500 per ton. Has shipped ore netting $36 per ton. Has such a small capitalization, only 300,000 shares and not 2,000,000 shares as other companies.
The company intends to sink a shaft through this rich $100 ore vein to a depth of several hundred feet, in order to be able to produce largely for the benefit of the stockholders which will get this profit in large monthly dividends. Hence the company offers a small amount of its stock at the extremely low price of 40 cents a share.

PERISHED IN THE FLAMES.

Three Women Burned to Death at Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 22.—A Fire that broke out in the Ledgerwood bakery, on Ouachita avenue, at 4 o'clock this morning, caused the death of Mrs. Laura Scammon, Mrs. Henry J. McLeod and Mrs. Austin Stivetts. Several other persons were injured, but none dangerously. Six boarding houses, several storehouses and fifteen cottages were destroyed, causing a loss of 100,000.

The Ledgerwood bakery was a frame building, on the second floor of which Mrs. Scammon had furnished apartments. Charles Ledgerwood first saw the flames and in his efforts to extinguish them neglected to warn people in the neighborhood. Nothing was heard of Mrs. Scammon until the fire was over, when her bones were found in the ashes of her house. Mrs. McLeod was a guest of the La Clede boarding house. She was aroused, and with her husband started out of the house, but remembered some jewelry and returned for it. When she started back she found her way blocked by the flames. Her husband tried to reach her and almost lost his life in the effort. She endeavored to rush through the flames, but fell down in the midst and perished.

Mr. and Mrs. Brownson, of Missouri, had a thrilling escape. They lived on the third floor of the Ouachita boarding house and when aroused found the house wrapped in fire. They rushed to the windows and cried to the people below for help, but none could be given them. She tied several sheets and blankets together, making a rope long enough to reach down to the window below. She went down first, entered the second floor window and escaped by a back stairway. When her husband reached the second floor the stairway was blocked by flames and he had to jump. He received severe bruises and the woman was badly lacerated in sliding down the rope. Three hundred men, women and children were driven to other quarters for lodging, and most of them lost all their clothing.

Chinese Officials anxious for Peace

London, Feb. 25.—The Central News correspondent in Pekin telegraphs: "The grand council met yesterday, and the question of war or peace was put to a vote. The high provincial officials, first to third rank, inclusive, were questioned by wire and telegraphed their answers. All expressed the opinion that the war was forced upon China unjustly, but they were anxious for peace, some adding, "if the terms be tolerable." There is great anxiety among the foreigners in Tien Tsin, Pekin and New Chwang."

The penitentiary to be located at or near the city of Harrisburg. The bill provides for the appointment of a commission to select a site, and appropriates $100,000 for the purchase of the same, etc.

GETTING READY TO FLEE.

Some Kittanning People Preparing for a Flood.

Kittanning, Pa., eb. 25.—The mild weather so far has not made any noticeable effect on the ice. Rain and a lot of it will be necessary to move the gorge. There is much dissention as to whether the daily thaws and nightly freezes increase or diminish the danger. One family has rented a house above the railroad, to which they will flee from their Water street residence when the break comes. Others have engaged boarding places with friends living in the country back from the river.

An opinion expressed by a man who has lived on the banks of the Allegheny the whole of his 60 years, does not allay the fear. He says the smaller quantity of water moving the ice the greater the probability of destruction from overflow. He thinks that if the rise is slight, the result will be that gorges will be formed behind which the water will be held until all the low land will be submerged. This occured in 1837, when this town was almost entirely inundated.

At Templeton Saturday a crowd of men and boys of exploring dispositions cut down through the gorge. They found twenty feet of gorge ice and under it eighteen inches of clear ice, as first frozen last January. This is the condition of the river for twenty miles and in some places worse.

How the Kittanning bridge will fare when the breakup comes, and how much the four piers will impede the ice flow are subjects of much speculation. Should the ice gorge owing to the barrier, the water will very likely come down through the middle of the town. The bridge is county property. The bonded indebtness of Armstrong county is now $64,500 and the taxpayers don't want it increased.

On Saturday a man from Worthington, this county, who knows how to handle dynamite, called upon the commissioners. His plan is to place several charges of the explosive under the ice a few yards above the bridge and then when the ice is about to start to discharge all at the same time. He thinks the eruption would be so great that the ice about the piers would be so broken that the gorge would pass between them without any damage. His services were not secured.

SUN AND BAROMETER.

Mr. Foster's Theory as to the Influence of the Former over the Latter.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from 23rd to 27th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 28th, crossthe western mountain country by close of March 1, the great central valleys March 2 and 4, and the eastern states about the 5th.

This disturbance will be a continuance of the severe storms of February, and precipitation will be about an average.

Warm wave will cross the western mountain country about February 28th, the great central valleys about March 2 and the eastern states about March 4. Cool wave will cross the western mountain country about March 3, the great central valleys about the 5th and the eastern states about the 7th.

Indictations are thatithe temperature of March will average below the normal east of the Alleghenies and north of Richmond, Va.; above normal in the Atlantic states south of Richmond; below in the Ohio valley and upper and lower lakes; below normal inthe Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys; below in the Red River country; above in the lower Mississippi valley, and east gulf; below average in the arid districts east of the Rockies; below average in the north Pacific slope and above on the south Pacific slope.

March rainfall will be well distributed and about normal throughtout the country, except a probable excess on the middle Atlantic coast.

Story of Auntie.

Only a brief sketch of the plot of "Charley's Aunt" is neccessary to indicate what unlimited opportunities there are for fun. Two young collegians invite their sweethearts to take lunch with them in the college quarters of one of the students, relying on the presence of a wealthy widow, who is expected from Brazil on a visit to her nephew, one of the entertainers, to give the affair proper form. But, unfortunately the widow is unable to arrive at the time announced, and sends a telegram notifying her nephew of her delay. This places the young men in a predicament. They do not which to give up the pleasure of meeting their sweethearts, and know the girls will not remain to lunch without a chaperone. They find a temporary solution of their difficulties by persuading a college chum to impersonate the widow and he is introduced as "Charley's Aunt." As this aunt is reputed to be worth several millions, suiters for her hand come to the front immediately, and the masquerading youth finds his position most embarrassing. The complications which ensue are ludicrous in the extreme. The laughter over the comic situations begins early in the play and the spectators are kept in a roar throughout the performance. The company to be seen here is a most excellent one.

For First Lieutenant.

The appointment of First Lieut. W. F. Reeder, of Co. B, to take the position of Assistant Adjutant General of the State of Pennsylvania renders it necessary that a new First Lieutenant be elected for Company B. This fact has created quite a rivalry among the aspirants and the result is an unusally animated contest. Second Lieut. George B. Jackson aspires to the first lieutenancy as being in the regular line and order of promotion; while the friends of Hugh Taylor are booming him for the position and, it is quietly whispered, there are several other aspirants, so that there is going to be a lively time and the result cannot even be predicted, only the counting of the votes being the true way of knowing who will carry the day and win the honors.

"Charley's Aunt."

"Charley's Aunt" will be seen here for the first time on 2nd of March, Saturday evening, at the Opera house. There is no question about its having been a tremendous success. It has long runs to its credit in New York, London, Berlin and Boston and a good company will present it here. The fun of "Charley's Aunt" is said to be as mirth provoking as it is harmless, it appeals alike to young and old, and no one need have any qualms in advance about witnessing it. There is a healthful ring in the dialogue, and the situations and players are described as giving a wonderful brightness of interpretation to the whole affair.

To Change Labor Day.

A bid has been introduced in the Pennsylvania Legislature changing the date of Labor Day from the first Saturday in September, to the first Monday. The holiday is observed on the last mentioned date in 29 states, and was so observed in Pennsylvania from 1889 to 1893. By the passage of this bill Pennsylvania will fall into line with the other states, and with the enactment of a similar law in the remaining states the holiday will practically become a national one.

Hastings Truss Company Assigns.

The Hastings Truss company, which was incorporated January 27, 1890, with Maj. W. H. Hastings, brother of the Governor, as president, on Saturday made an assignment to Gen. Louis Wagner. The Governor is said to have sold out his interest in the company, which was capitalized at $25,000. The other officers were W. F. Reeder, of Bellefonte, secretary, and Maj. Hastings, Mr. Reeder and J. L. Spangler, of Bellefonte, directors.

Gifts From Hastings.

Philadelphia, Feb. 22.—It was announced here to day that Gov. Hastings will appoint T. B. Stulb health officer, to succeed Maj. Moses Veal, and J. H. Klemmer is to be harbor master. Magistrate W. B. Ahern is to succeed Gen. James W. Latta as clerk of quarter sessions, when the latter resigns to take his seat as Secretary of Internal Affairs. All three prospective appointees are strong followers of David Martin. These are the only offices of importance that the Governor has to fill in Philadelphia.

A Rope Ends His Life.

Corry, Pa., Feb. 22.—M. Michaels, a leading clothing dealer of Corry, was found this morning hanging by a rope in the rear of his clothing house. He was discovered by the manager of the store. Mr. Michaels, besides carrying on his large clothing business, had erected a beautiful little hotel here, which was to be opened soon. He has been a very liberal man. His wife and daughter, who are in New York city, have been wired for.

—The bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Will Doll, returned Monday evening from their wedding tour and were at once driven to their future home on Logan street where everything was in readiness for their reception. They were serenaded late in the evening by the Undine band.

—Gregg Post will depart in a special chair car over the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania to-morrow morning between 8 and 9 o'clock, for Williamsport to attend the spring encampment of the State G. A. R. About fifty members of the Post will make the trip. They will return on Thursday evening.

—The Pennsylvania State College Glee and Banjo clubs gave their concert to a very large audience in the College chapel Saturday evening. The hearers claim the clubs are second to none in Pennsylvania. Their college songs are spirited and jolly, and their string instruments are cleverly manipulated by those experienced musicians. State College is the best patron Bellefonte has in the county, and the P. S. C. boys should have a most hearty reception here this evening.

THE SHIRT FACTORY.

A Soliciting Committee Appointed—A Conprehensive Statement of the Enterprise.

We have already stated that, at the request of The Board of Trade, Messrs. F. W. Crider and Hammond Sechler visited Lewistown for the purpose of investigating in detail, as far as practicable, the operations of the Shirt Factory conducted by Mr. H. R. Parker, who has visited this place. Messrs. Crider and Sechler found that the enterprise had failed because there was not sufficient capital furnished to carry on the business. The capital, which had been furnished, was permanently invested in a building and other items, leaving no working capital. Owing to the uncertainty of any business, at the outset, these gentlemen did not feel at liberty to recommend others to enter into it, but they were willing, in their own judgment, to take an interest in it, with the expectation, under careful management, to make money out of it. Mr. Sechler said had he capital to spare, he would move his meat store to other quarters and start the Shirt Factory in the room next door to his grocery. Mr. Crider said if he were out of business, he would enter into a Shirt Factory, as confidentially as any other manufacturing establishment, if he wished to continue in the manufacturing business. After this explanation, the Board of Trade authorized the President, Mr. William Shortlidge, to appoint a Committee of five members of the Board, to solicit subscriptions for the purpose of raising funds to establish a Shirt Manufactory in this vicinity. In pursuance of that resolution, Mr. Shortlidge has appointed the following Committee: Hammond Sechler, Chairman; Henry Brockerhoff, F. W. Crider, John P. Harris and Charles F. Cook. The character and standing of these gentlemen in this community carry confidence with their appointment.

The gentlemen who have taken an interest in this matter, and who continue to do so, are doing it for a two-fold purpose. The first is to give employment to those of our town desirous of engaging in such employment. The second consideration, is to institute small manufacturing establishment, that requires a small amount of capital, with little risk of loss. There are certainly many women in this community who are looking forward to the time when some business will be established in Bellefonte, that will furnish them employment at reasonably remunerative wages. There is no time that a community prospers so well, as those when needing employment are furnished with that opportnnity.

So long as people live, they must have shirts. It is one of the needful garments which cannot be dispensed with. It also seems clear to us that, so long as the market is supplied with shirts, there is and will be a profit in making them. If there was not a profit in manufacturing shirts, certainly, there would soon be a scarcity in the market, and those who wear them, would have to make their own. It is true that some shirt manufacturers have failed. It is also true that those engaged in other manufactories have failed and it is doubly true, that the most, if not nearly all, of the Shirt Manufacturers have and are realizing net profits out of the business. If other people realize profits out of manufacturing shirts, there is no reason why a company in Bellefonte cannot realize a profit out of the business.

There is no end to the demand for shirts—every man, woman and child are consumers of shirts—they require millions of shirts in the United States; there is nothing manufactured that is more numerously needed, than shirts—then why not establish a shirt factory right here? This community will be far better off when it can employ those who are now awaiting the opportunity to engage in making shirts, although the capital may realize but a small profit out of the business.

When every individual in any community, who needs employment, is employed at reasonably compensating wages and paid in cash for the same, the whole people of that community prosper as they can not prosper under more unfavorable circumstances.

We are well aware that there has been a large amount of capital lost in manufacturing enterprises of our town. The reason is plain—does not admit of a doubt. The enterprises were too large at the outset and the men in charge, as a rule, were not equal to their engagements. The most successful manufacturers commence in a small way and build up the business. As we have had too many large engagements by all means let us engage in a small enterprise and commence now.

It is estimated that $5000 in cash will be sufficient funds to commence this factory with.

Suit For Damages.

In the Clearfield county court a verdict has been rendered against the Pennsylvania and Northwestern railroad company in favor of the heirs of Engineer Moulton and Fireman Ake, killed in a locomotive boiler explosion at Irvona, Clearfield county, May 4, 1892. The case was tried before Judge Wickham, of Beaver county, sitting as a special judge for Judge Cyrus Gordon. Thirty witnesses including government experts in steel and chemistry and a superintendent of the Baldwin locomotive works testified. The jury was out seven hours. Moulter's heirs receive $1,936.50. The amount claimed by each was $20,000.

An Outing For School Teachers.

That ever popular people's paper The Pittsburg Times, not satisfied with sending six ministers of the gospel on a six week's trip to the Holy Land, has now planned to send the five most popular school teachers in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland, on a 54 days' trip through Scotland, England, France, Belgium and Holland, to be made during the summer vacation season. The selection will be made by ballot printed in The Times from March 1 to June 15 inclusive, and only readers of The Times will be allowed to vote. No papers will be sold in bulk to any party, so that this trip cannot be bought, but must be won by the merits of the teacher. A full outline of the plan is printed in the paper of Saturday, February 23rd, and every school teacher should look the matter up as they may be one of the lucky ones voted for.

At Gregg Post.

Friday, Washington's birthday, was very fittingly and appropriately observed by Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R., by serving dinner and keeping open restaurant in their rooms in the Harris Block, all day, for the benefit of the relief fund of the Post. And they were well patronized throughout, the rooms being thronged at noon time and in the evening. But they were well prepared for such an emergency, as there had been abundance of delicious edibles prepared, and the large force of handsome ladies who waited on the tables kept no one in suspense any length of time. The net proceeds of the day will sum up about one hundred dollars.

Purchased a New House.

Dr. H. K. Hoy, one of Bellefonte's prominent physicians, has just closed the purchase of the property of Ex-Sheriff D. W. Woodring, on the north of the Court House, on High street. The doctor will fix up the property and make it his future home, moving there about April first. Mrs. Adam Hoy will move from her present residence on Curtin Street to the Hoy homestead on High street.

Making Improvements.

Quite a number of buildings are at present undergoing repairs which when completed will make them appear as if new. The stone and brick building on Allegheny street which is owned by Archie Allison is in the hands of the carpenters and has already assumed a different appearance, the two buildings will be used as one and on the first floor there will be one large and comfortable store room which will be occupied by B. C. Ackenbach, the baker, who will have his bread department on the south side with the ice cream parlors adjoining on the north side. When the repairs are finished it will make this building one of the finest business blocks in the town.

On the 1st of April repairs will be commenced on the Pruner building the present site of Parrish's drug store and Rhone's Dental Parlors. The entire building is to be remodelled and converted into a fine business site, the first floor will be changed into two large store rooms the room on the north side of the building will be changed first, into which C. M. Parrish, will move his store while the room he occupies at present is being changed. Let others follow this xample of beautifying the town and soon our main streets will be one continuation of fine and substantial business blocks.

New Officers Elected.

At a recent meeting of the Bellefonte Wheelmen the following officers were elected to serve the during coming year. President, Lewis Wetzel · Treasurer, Joseph D. Mitchell. Secretary, Harry Gerberich. Captain, George L. Williams. Every one of the new officers elected isfully capable of filling his position and good results are exdected from them. The total number of members enrolled shows an increase of thirty per cent over the membership of last year. During the year just closed the wheelmen have given some of the finest banquets that we have ever known, and notwithstanding the hilly roads the boys have taken some fine and exciting trips. At different times the local wheelmen have entertained visiting wheelmen who all flattered the boys upon their sociability. Already several "spins" to different places have been arranged for the coming summer, besides many interesting races which they intend holding.

A Successful Affair.

The Military ball given by Co. B., 5th Reg. in their new armory last night was a complete success in every particular. A large and good natured crowd was in attendance and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves as well as they possibly could. The music for the street parade was furnished by the Coleville band and notwithstanding the chilly atmosphere the boys played to perfection. At 9 o'clock the Grand March started to the stirring strain of the Undine Orchestra and as the column marched and counter-marched it made a very pretty sight. The music furnished by the Orchestra for the dancing was up to the standard causing many favorable comments from the dancers. The best of order prevailed throughout the entire evening which reflects great credit upon those having the dance in charge.

Sociable Last Night.

The ladies of the Catholic church held a sociable at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Storm on Spring street last night which was a complete success. A large number took advantage of the opportunity to have a good time at a small cost. The refreshments were prepared with the greatest of care upon which fact those having the affair in charge are to be highly commended.

Death of Mary Robb.

A telephone dispatch from Howard announced the death Sunday evening of Mary A. the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Robb. The funeral took place Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Reformed church.

—The election of a first lieutenant for Company B will be held in the new Armory next Tuesday evening, March 5th.

AN INFAMOUS ACT.

Trying to Deprive Election Boards of Just Dues.

The Commissioners of Centre county are making themselves ridiculous in the eyes of the observing public by attempting to keep from the election boards of the North and South wards which acted on the election of 19th inst., their just and well earned money for the time they served in that capacity. Usually it has been the custom for election boards when working after midnight of election day to receive two days' pay. This custom is not one of a few years back, but it is one which dates back for a long period. The commissioners' "ring" which has been running things to suit themselves ever since they have been in office were suddenly taken with the notion that they ought to economize and keep down expenses; where they obtained this idea is a mystery which is impossible to solve unless it originated from the fertile (?) brains of those worthy personages themselves. One thing is certain, and that is that they were not possessed with that idea when they made out their own statement and were crediting themselves with time for which they were to be paid and their intentions were not made public until Wednesday. The election boards which acted in the North and South wards in the recent election were compelled to work after midnight in order to get the returns from their respective wards out for the public. Having worked one day and part of another they were, as in all former cases of the kind, entitled to two days' pay, but when they presented their bill for that amount they were politely but firmly informed that the commissioners, having already received their last year's full salary, intended to economize in the future and that it was their intention to pay for only one days' work whether the parties who were directly interested were satisfied or not. The members of the election boards did perfectly right in refusing to accept less than what was actually due them. Acting upon the advice of counsel they issued a mandamus or state case against the commissioners for their full pay. This case will be acted upon by the court and it being the first of its kind on record the result is awaited with interest not only by the parties directly interested, but by the public in general. If these two election boards are not entitled to extra pay for working after midnight why has this fact not been discovered before now? At each election there has always been one or two of the different boards which were compelled to work after midnight and they always received two days' pay, and as this is not the first election in which the present commissioners paid the current election expenses, why is it that they are so conscientious and economizing at such short notice. Why did they not discover this important (?) fact and regulate it sooner? This is a matter which demands a public explanation because the officers who have charge of the different elections are citizens and should understand the matter so they would know what they are taking when they run for such offices.

"Charley's Aunt."

"Charley's Aunt" which has been aptly styled. "The comedy sensation of the decade" and which will be seen in this city on the 2nd of March Saturday evening at the opera house, has had one of the most successful runs ever known in Boston and Chicago, aside from its long engagements in New York and London. The audiences at the theatres where the piece has been played were so large that the musicians were obliged to play under the stage at every performance. The piece is described as mirth provoking from end to end. The fun is of the most rollicking description, but never at any moment borders on vulgarity. In fact, one of the chief charms of the comedy is that while it never ceases to amuse it never descends to anything in dialogue or situation which would shock the most fastidious.

The Rock Mills all Right.

A report has been in circulation to the effect that the Rock Mills company intended to go out of business. This is a mistake. The mill will be run the same as heretofore, and the buying of grain and the placing on the market of the finest flour and feed will continue indefinitely.

The Lutheran Susquehanna Synod will meet in May at Sunbury. The synod embraces the territory between Scranton and Jersey Shore on the north, Mount Carmel on the east, Selinsgrove on the south and Lewisburg on the west. In this territory there are 50 appointments and 70 churches with a membership of 10,127.

—It is reported that Elmer Showers, and family intend leaving Bellefonte in the spring and locating in Niagra. The house vacated by them will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Showers of Curtin street.

Local Department.

—Philipsburg held a very successful local teachers' institute last Friday and Saturday.

—The Centre county poor house question is now a dead issue, buried under a pile of some sixteen hundred votes.

—Web. Kerstetter will open an ice cream parlor in the room on Bishop street soon to be vacated by B. C. Achenbach, the baker and confectioner.

—"Charley's Aunt" is the next play on the list. The chart was put up at Parrish's to-day. Buy your tickets for Saturday night at once.

—It is with regret we hear of the serious illness of Miss Catherine Miller, daughter of Mr. W. H. Miller, of near Bellefonte, and we trust she may soon recover.

—Next Tuesday, March 5th, will be license day in Centre county and then Hon. John G. Love will have his first opportunity of saying who "will" and who "won't"

—Mrs. Mary Ellen, wife of William B. Way, of near Stormstown, died on Tuesday February 26th, after a long illness. She was aged 48 years, and was a member of the Society of Friends.

—The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will meet in the chapel parlors Friday evening, March 1st, at 7.30 o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

—Gerald, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grimison, of Huntingdon, fell from a third story window on Monday on to the cobble stones below, crushing his skull. He lived but a half hour afterwards.

—Drawings have already been made and plans submitted for a new $100,000 agricultural building at the State College. The only thing yet needed to insure its erection is the necessary appropriation by the legislature.

—On Thursday Representative Lawrence, of Washington county, introduced a bill in the legislature appropriating $5,000 for the erection of a pedestal for a statute to the late ex-Governor Curtin at or near Bellefonte.

—The kind of weather we are having now is taking away the snow gradually but surely and without any danger of high water. In Bellefonte the streets, in a few places, are bare, but in the country excellent sleighing still abounds.

—Mrs. Boulton, formerly Miss Jennie McBride, of Bellefonte, was a prohibition candidate for school director at the late election at her home in Franklin, Venango county, Pa., and received 262 votes, not enough to elect her, however.

—Workmen are now busily engaged altering and putting in proper shape the Allison building on Allegheny street for the occupancy of B. C. Achenbach, the baker and confectioner. When completed it will be one of the "nicest" places in Bellefonte.

—Owing to Rev. Robert E. Wright going to Philipsburg to conduct the funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Clerc, to morrow afternoon, there will be no Ash Wednesday services in St. John's Prostestant Episcopal church in this place.

—Three Bohemian glass blowers were arrested in Lock Haven on Saturday for a murderous assault and robbery of an old man by the name of Cramer, at Hoytsville last week. The victim was robbed of a gold watch and $35 and beaten so badly that his recovery is not possible.

—Governor Hastings Tuesday issued a manifesto to the state legislature in which he sets forth that economy must be practiced in the passing of appropriation bills, or else he will have to use the pruning knife without stint when they come before him for approval. He also decries the creation of any new salaried offices.

—Next Monday, at 9 o'clock, the old council will meet in adjourned session for the last time, and at 10 o'clock the new council will be sworn in and an organization for the coming year effected. Already it is said, there are three members mentioned in connection with the presidency of that body, and just who the lucky one may yet be it is impossible to even predict.

—Just two weeks from to-day the twenty-seventh annual session of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Episcopal conference will convene in the First church, Tyrone. Bishop John P. Newman, D. D., LL. D., of Omaha, Neb., will preside at the sessions during the week. Rev. R. H. Gilbert, the resident pastor in Tyrone, is sparing no exertions in making arrangements for the entertainment and comfort of the preachers while there.

—A singular state of relationship on a large scale is vouched for by the Louisville Courier Journal, which tells of a district school near Mt. Olivet, Ky., where fifty-five pupils are enrolled. Each pupil is related either by consanguinity or marriage to every other child in the school. One or the other of the parents of each of the fifty five children was either a pupil or schoolmate with the present teacher.

Death Near Clintondale.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dornblaser, wife of Peter Dornblaser, died Tuesday at the homestead in Porter township, of pneumonia. The deceased was seventy-eight years old. Besides her aged husband she is survived by the following named children: Rev. Thomas F., of Bucyrus, O.; Mrs. Amanda Townsend, of Valley Falls, Kan., and Pearce M. and Puella, E. who reside at home. Sixteen grandchildren also survive her. The funeral will take place Friday morning at 11 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. Spangler, assisted by Rev. Diehl, will conduct the services. Interment will be made in the family burying ground at Snydertown.

The deceased was born near Madisonburg, Centre county. She was a consistent member of the Lutheran church, a faithful wife, a devoted mother and a kind and thoughtful neighbor. Her godly example will be remembered by a large circle of intimate personal friends, whose attachment and attention she enjoyed to the end. "Blessed is the righteous when he dies." The end was peace.

Beaver's Colorado Property.

Wednesday's Pittsburg Times: George W. Currier, of Greeley, Col., an associate of Gov. James A. Beaver's is in Pittsburg as the guests of W. E. Tustin. He, with Gen. Beaver, Mr. Tustin and Rev. Dr. W. T. Wylie, formerly of Bellefonte, now of Sparta, Ill., own 6,500 acres of watered potato lands. When the Union colony was organized 25 years ago by Horace Greeley, who about that time said, "Young man, go West," Gen. Beaver and Dr. Wylie bought 4,000 acres surrounding the town which was named in honor of Greeley. Since their purchrse they have paid $20,000 in taxes, and until recently did not realize anything. Now the lands are said to be exceedingly valuable. Last July Gen. Beaver and Gov. Hastings, who also has possessions there visited Greeley, and contracted for the digging of a ditch from the Platte river to the lands at a cost of $40,000. The ditch is completed, and Beaver and his associates have purchased 2,560 additional acres.

Wild Turkeys are Starving.

Nittany Valley farmers report that large flocks of wild turkeys come down from the Bald Eagle mountains and eat frozen apples in the orchards, to keep from starving In some instances the turkeys have ventured into the barnyards. The deep snows have literally starved the turkeys into seeking food at the barns.

Dwelling House Burned.

On Tuesday night fire broke out in the residence of John C. Nason, the lumberman at Beaver, in Huston township, and the building, with all its contents, was totally destroyed The family were all asleep at the time and were compelled to flee for their lives, escaping in their night clothes. All their wearing apparel was burned. Mr. Nason estimates his loss at four thousand dollars, on which there was no insurance, all his policies having expired about two weeks ago. The origin of the fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiary.

REGULATIONS FOR LENT.

As They Have Been Promulgated by Bishop Phelan of the Pittsburg Catholic Diocese.

The following regulations for Lent have been officially issued by Bishop Phelan, of the Pittsburg Catholic diocese:

All the faithful members who have completed their 21st year are, unless legitimately dispensed, bound to observe the fast of Lent. They are to make only one full meal a day, excepting Sunday. The meal allowed on fast days is not to be taken till about noon. A small refreshment, commonly called collation, is allowed in the evening. No general rule as to the quantity of food permitted at this time is or can be made, but the practice of most regular Christians is never to let it exceed the fourth part of an ordinary meal. In the morning a piece of bread not exceeding two ounces, with a drink of coffee, tea or choclate, or any similar beverage can be taken. When the principal meal cannot be taken about noon, it is lawful to invert the order by taking the collation in the morning and the dinner in the evening In preparing food that is permitted, lard or fat may be made use of. The following persons are exempt from the obligation of fasting: Young persons under 21 years of age, the sick, pregnant women, or those giving suck to infants, persons obliged to hard labor, and all who through weakness cannot fast without great prejudice to their health. By dispensation to use of flesh meat will be allowed at all meals on Sundays and once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with the exception of the Saturday in Ember week and the last Saturday in Lent. The use of butter, cheese, milk and eggs is also permitted every day in Lent. The use of flesh meat and fish at the same meal on any day, even on Sunday, is forbidden. Persons dispensed from the obligation of fasting are not bound by the restriction of using meat only at one meal on days on which its use is granted by dispensation. Those who are obliged to fast are permitted to use meat only at one meal. The time for making the Easter communion will date from the first Sunday in Lent till the Sunday within the Octave of Ascension May 26, inclusive. The use of flesh meat on Saturdays throughout the year is allowed, for a term of years by dispensation from the holy see.

G. A. R. Encampment.

The spring encampment of the Grand Army at Williamsport to-day and to-morrow is attracting many old comrades to the lumber city. A special train of six cars, laded with G. A. R. posts and delegates from the western part of the state, passed over the Bald Eagle valley road Tuesday afternoon, and the same afternoon trains from the east were crowded with posts from Harrisburg, Columbia, Wrightsville, Lancaster and other places. Gregg Post departed in a special car this morning over the Central Railroad of Pennsylvnia. They will stay during the entire encampment, returning to-morrow evening.

The Shirt Factory.

In a letter received from Mr. H. P. Parker, Lewistown, that gentleman says: "I have been informed that a committee has been appointed to try to raise the money to start the shirt factory. I hope, if they raise it at all, it will be done soon, for the season is advancing and spring and summer trade is very valuable, and will be a nice thing for us if we can get started up in time to get a slice of it."

And this leads us to ask the question, is the committee doing anything? If not, why not?

Young, as "Hamlet."

James Young, the talented tragedian, with a good company, appeared in "Hamlet" at Garman's opera house Friday night. An appreciative audience greeted him. Mr. Young, as "Hamlet," in Shakespeare's great tragedy of that name more than justified the splendid reputation that had preceded him in the past. As the Melancholy Dane, this ambitious actor has made his mark and the work is placed high. He is handsome, graceful, painstaking and full of fire. He held the sympathy of his audience throughout the evening, and his acting elicited much applause. His deep, mellow voice is held under perfect control and thrills the listener with its rapid change from gentle satire to bitter censure in his scenes with Ophelia. The leading parts in the play were well taken. Miss Rida Johnson was a lovely Ophelia, and like the star, she has youth and beauty in her favor. Her acting of this beautiful character was almost perfect and she has a bright future before her on the stage.

On or about April first a new firm will be organized by his two sons, Charles and Edward, of Philadelphia, who will come home to go into business here. We wish for the sons the same measure of success their father experienced during his life in Bellefonte. They are both bright, enterprising young men, good workman, skilled in the trade and deserve to succeed where others might fail.

The Centre County Fair.

What has become of the Centre County fair association? is a question so repeatedly asked the writer that we are constrained to put it before our readers and almost tempted to offer a reward for any positive information concerning the same. The last heard of it the committee appointed to solicit stock had about $8,500 of the required $10,000 subscribed and were then apparently resting on their oars for their final pull. So far as can be learned they are still resting.

—Keep in mind the Reformed church sociable this evening at the residence of George Kaup, one mile from Bellefonte. Refreshments of the most delicious kind will be served. Transportation out and back free to all who will attend.

Two Deaths in Huston Township.

MRS. W. S. WILLIAMS.

Mrs. Rebecca, wife of Mr. W. Shedrick Willams, a merchant at Martha Furnace, in Huston township, died at her home on Wednesday, her death being caused by a tumorous growth, for which several operations had been performed, but which finally caused her death. She is survived by her husband and nine children, namely, Gertie, Lottie, William S., Charles G., Byron, Patience M., Powell, Nancy and Bessie. The funeral occured on Friday afternoon.

JOHN BODLE.

At four o'clock Saturday morning John Bodle, of Julian, supervisor on the road at that place, breathed his last, after a brief illness with pneumonia, the result of a cold contracted while shoveling snow during the recent blizzard. Mr. Bodle had for some time past been afflicted with throat trouble and this likely made him more susceptible to the inclement weather than he otherwise would have been. He was highly esteemed citizen of Julian, aged about 54 years and leaves a wife and three children, namely, James Bodle, of Jersey Shore, and Daniel and Edward Bodle, at home. The funeral took place on Tuesday morning from his late residence.

New Sheep Disease.

Mr. John P. Rute of Nittany Valley, reports a new disease among sheep, one of his having died from the malady and two others are affected. The sheep first become dull and stupid and do not follow the others; the sight becomes affected, resulting in total blindness, and apparently the sheep become deaf, for they pay no attention to any noise, though it be violent. After standing around a while with head thrown up, they fall over, and lie there until dead, unable to get up, or stand up when helped.

The Fire Wednesday Morning.

About 10 o'clock a. m. Wednesday a coal oil lamp was accidentally upset in J. J. Gramley's grocery store and the oil spilling on an overcoat at once ignited and a small fire was the result. The alarm was promptly sounded, but before any of the steamers could get on the ground, the fire was entirely extinguished, having done little damage, aside from the destruction of the coat. It was enough, however, to create some little excitement for the time being.

The Concert Tuesday Evening.

The State College Glee and Banjo clubs gave one of their inimitable concerts in Garman's opera house on Tuesday evening to, we are sorry to say, a very small audience. The concert throughout was a very creditable one and especially enjoyable were the renditions by the Banjoists. Their specialties were among the best ever heard in the opera house. For Bellefonters, it must be said, they should be ashamed of themselves for not more liberally patronizing the Club.

"Charley's Aunt."

March 2nd, at the Opera House, "Charley's Aunt" will be presented for the first time in this city. It is one of the funniest farce comedies ever written. The plot turns on the escapade of a couple of college students, who give a dinner in their scholastic apartments to a couple of young ladies, at which the aged aunt of one of the men is expected to act as chaperone. She fails to arrive, and a smooth-faced student comrade is dressed up as a starting point springs a great series of laughable situation.

—An exchange has the following: Wanted—A friend, one who will recognize when I am compelled to wear patched pants; who will take my hand as I am sliding down hill instead of giving me a kick to hasten my descent; who will lend me a dollar without two dollars security who will come to me when I am sick, who will pull off coat and fight when odds are two to one; who will talk of me behind my back as he talks to my face. Such a friend is wanted by ten thousand human beings throughout the whole world.
